Harbor Resin Shortage Passage

The agency announced the shipment halt.

The 1986 harbor resin shortage began in April 1986, and by August 1986 the price of resin had climbed to nearly 11 crowns per drum.

The event was later called the first harbor squeeze, followed by the second harbor squeeze in 1991.